They request also that all parties owing them for guano and acid will kindly come forward and give their notes for same at once.

A citizen has hit upon a novel method of getting rid of a neighbor's chickens which had done much mischief in his garden. He wrote a number of cards: "I am likely to be shot," "keep me at home," "I've been scratching up my neighbor's garden," etc. To each of the cards he attached a thread, and at the other end a kernel of corn. The hens swallowed the corn and returned home labeled with the cards, every one having a sign hanging out of its mouth.

As the heavens now present an unusual opportunity to lovers of astronomy, a few facts on the subject may be of interest. Shortly after sunset, at about 7 15, any observer may catch sight of Venus just above the point where the sun has gone down. Venus is the most brilliant of all the planets, and will become more and more prominent in the next few weeks. Eight or ten degrees further up in the sky, a little to the right of Venus, Mercury can be seen for a few evenings. Copernicus and several other great astronomers never saw Mercury and all should take a look at this planet. At the same time Jupiter can be seen high up in the Eastern horizon and unmistakable in this brilliancy. Among the constellations and fixed stars now visible are Aldebaran, the Seven Stars, Orion, Sirius and the two Dippers. If this evening is clear, every one should watch the sky at the time noted.

The round trip fare is $4.90. Tickets will be on sale both Tuesday and Wednesday, good until the following Saturday. The special car for Anderson will reach here next Saturday, and on Monday a number of the ladies of the city will decorate it.

The Edison Projectoscope Co. of unexcelled artists will appear at the Opera House on Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week. They have Edison's latest invention, the Projectoscope, showing living moving scenes as in real life, so natural that the audience is unable to distinguish them from real life. This exhibition is endorsed by press and public everywhere as scientific, instructive and thoroughly up-to-date. South Carolina's curiosity, the petrified man, found near Columbia, will be on exhibition at the same time and can be seen free of charge by all who visit the exhibition. Don't fail to see the Company in their latest songs and novelties of the day. Admission 10, 20 and 30 cents. Reserved seats and tickets on sale at H. H. Russell's.

In another column we publish a notice from the publishers, Raud, McNally & Co., Chicago and New York, in reference to a novel, "Under the Ban," by Mrs. Teresa Hammond Strickland, a native of this city and the youngest daughter of the late Judge Reed. The gifted and talented authoress was born in this city some years after the great civil war had ended, and was married very young. Soon after her marriage she moved to Camden, S. C., where her husband was in business for several years. In that historic town were gathered the tradition and facts upon which much of the story was founded. Since their removal from this State, her husband's business connections have furnished the opportunity for extended travel and for living in some of the principal cities of the Union, New York being their present place of residence. Mrs. Strickland's ability as a writer, together with her magnificent voice and training in music, have won many laurels for her and elicited much praise from the press as well as in social circles wherever she has been. The novel will be on sale at the bookstore of the Brown Printing Co.

A large crowd visited the Patrick Military Institute campus last Friday afternoon to witness the exhibition and prize drills of the Cadets. Company C, which is composed of cadets under 14 years of age, in Zouave uniforms of red and yellow, gave an exhibition drill. They presented a fine appearance and drilled like trained soldiers. Next came the competitive drill for the honor of bearing the colors, which was participated in by Companies A and B, the former winning by a close margin. This was followed by individual contests for the medals, which were won by Cadet Basil Manly, of the Zouaves, Cadet Louis Smith, of Company A, and Cadet George Greer, of Company B. Messrs. T. J. Mauldin and P. K. McCully, Jr., both of whom are graduates of the Citadel, acted as Judges. In the evening another large audience was present in the Institute Chapel to hear the declamations and the debate between the two literary societies. The Anderson Cornet Band was present and interspersed the exercises with some fine music. Cadet E. M. Richbourg was the declaimer for the Alpha Phi Society, and Cadet Ernest Leverett for the Phi Kappa Society. The subject for debate was whether it was just and expedient for the United States to annex Hawaii. Two affirmative was represented by Cadets H. B. Schlegelmilch and G. P. Timmerman, and the negative by Cadets Samuel Craig and J. C. Aecker. After a long consultation the judges, Prof. Moncrief, Sullivan and Manly, decided in favor of the negative. All of the speakers acquitted themselves well.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D.: "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took it in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at Hill-Orr Drug Co's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.
